Saddened by the news, yet smiling because Paula was true to life. May the many memories we hold dear remain in the hearts of all that knew her. Rest peacefully Paula, as one day we will meet again. To family and friends, Paula loved her dispatching, she always returned to it. This is the true reflection of her person: she was always giving. May you find peace in knowing the we all have another angel to help guide our way and until you meet with your mother or our friend Paula again, remain protected in God's White Light.
